DECKER BOY FAILED TO APPRECIATE PROBATION

Escaped by Kneeling Beforelothing from Home Where He Was Placed.

Carl Decker, the Mystic boy, who was sentenced to a year in jail in the criminal superior court here last Thursday for burglary of a boat, and then placed on probation under suspension of sentence of a year in jail, has violated his parole. He will be placed before the court again this week.

Decker was taken in hand by County Probation Officer Richard W.
Mansfield of New London and Mr.
Mansfield found a home for him at the farm of B. E. Lewis in Waterford.
Mr. Lewis provided work for the boy and groomed him a good home.

Country life, evidently did not appeal to Carl, however, for he was missing from his Lewis place Sunday.
Mrs. Lewis, going to the boy's room, found his bedding joined together by knots into a rope. Apparently he planned to make use of the improvised rope in getting out of the house.

Decker is about 16. He is not considered very bright. He did not appear to be of criminal instinct and he was placed on probation to be given the chance which the court always wishes to give to the young.
